and their labors, we see that he retains very decided convictions as to the distinction between the temporal and spiritual powers and functions of the church, and goes in very positively for keeping up the distinction. Speaking of the coming election for the House of Delegates from that county, and the nomination of some proper candidate, he says:

We shall endorse any suitable man for the post, unless he be a Prencher. If so we are off. The man whose business it is to preach, has no husiness to dabble in politics. The Berkeley Union publishes and compliments Hon. E. B. Hall's letter on the oath question. Concerning Mr. Hall, himself, the Union says:

We believe the Hon. E. B. Hall has for some years contemplated moving to Marlinsburg, for the practice of law, and was making such preparation prior to his acceptance of the nomination for judgeship. We wish it distinctly understood that Mr. Hall never sought the nomination, that it was urged upon him by his friends in this district; and that he has given no pledges whatever to any persons or parties, as to his polity. The convention knew nothing whatever as to Mr. Hall's future course; they knew he was a first class lawyer, elected on the same ticket with Gov. Boreanan and other state officers, and is now in the full confidence of the administration of the State.

By the Winchester News we see that James Marshall, Esq., declines the appointment of Gov. Pelipoint to the Judgeship of the Fauquier circuit.

They sumed, and the natural demand of the country under an easy money market will be commensurate with the regular running of the mills, at present built. The mice for labor, which is the base of the price of all material does not seem likely to give way much, if any, while pig metal has advanced largely. With present rates for iron based upon a small margin of profit, if indeed covering actual cost, it looks as if any steady increase of demand might send prices up, while they will be sure to be maintained.

I hear that a very handsome and elegant private theater on 23d street, is to be opened about the 1st of December, with a series of dramatic representations on alternate nights; the characters to be filled by the soms and daughters of wealthy and fishionable families. The invitations are not to exceed five ters of weathly and assumance names, the invitations are not to exceed five hundred, and are confined to the social circle in which the amateurs move.
